THE LAST ACT IN THE CIVIL WAR.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE JOURNAL: The closing scenes at Appomattox courthouse were a fitting ending of the last campaign in the Civil War. It fell to the lot of the 20th Maine to be in the last act. It followed Sheridan with the cavalry while endeavoring to pass to the left of Lee's army. In this earnest pursuit occurred the long days march from 5 in the morning until midnight, when it seemed that the men could march no longer—only the sound of Sheridan's cannon in front kept them in motion. Men fell out by the wayside unable to march farther, but the next morning found the stragglers all in line and ready for battle. The men moved out at 5 o'clock to the sound of battle in front. Gray clouds hid the morning sun as the column emerged from the woods into the open country about the then unknown little courthouse village, destined to become historic. To the front, half a mile away, was a low hill skirted with trees which hid the village. As the Fifth Corps swung into line of battle and shook out their colors the sun broke through the clouds. On this open field stood more than twenty thousand men in line of battle. It was an inspiring sight, even to old veterans. Soon a large body of cavalry came galloping from the left across the field toward the right. In front of them on a black horse rode Sheridan at a swift gallop. It was the same long, powerful strides of the black horse that carried victory to Cedar Creek. Soon was seen emerging from the woods in front an officer in Confederate uniform, waving a white flag. Almost instantly a wild shout went up from the men. "Lee surrenders!" "Lee surrenders!" An angel from heaven shining as the sun could have meant no more than that mounted officer with his piece of white cloth did to the men. It meant the final triumph of the Army of the Potomac after four years of severe struggle, often mixed with bitter defeat. It meant honor, instead of shame; prosperity and peace instead of peril and disaster. For this a thousand battles had been fought and hundreds of thousands of men slain. Not one of the old veterans doubted but what it was the close of the war, and to them it meant home and friends. This officer with his white flag turned and rode to the right, followed by shouts. General Chamberlain with his old brigade was chosen to receive the arms and colors of Lee's army. When this was done the men who had fought us for four long years marched to their homes without arms or colors or music. The Twentieth Maine took a prominent part in this, the last act in the Civil War. A. S.

NORTH SEASPORT.

Miss Jessie Tozier of Frankfort was in town last week visiting her sister, Mrs. Raymond Ward. Mrs. Clifford Seekins of North Stockton Springs has been engaged to teach the spring term of school in District No. 8. Mrs. Marion Matthews, who sustained a fracture of the hip three weeks ago, is improving. Miss Hazel Stuart was at home last week for a few days from South Brooks. The sad news of the death of Mrs. Willard Whittem of Camden reached here last week. Mrs. Whittem was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Tripp of Swanville and much sympathy is expressed for the afflicted ones in their hour of sorrow. Miss Clarke of Frankfort has been engaged to teach the school in District No. 7. Miss Clarke is a teacher of experience and the district is fortunate in securing her services. Miss Theodora Merithew has been engaged to teach the school at Park. Miss Merithew has taught several terms of school in this district and is very highly spoken of as a teacher.

"The Schoodic Cut off."

The Board of Railroad Commissioners have approved the location of the "Schoodic cut-off," so-called, on the Bangor & Aroostook Railroad. The new line will extend between South Lagrange and a point in Township 4, Range 9, passing through the towns of Medford and Lakeview. It not only shortens the traveling distance between the two points, but one of the worst grades on the system is avoided.

ANNIVERSARY WEDDING IN KNOX.

Mr. John Penney and wife celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage at their pleasant home in Knox, March, 11th. "Sech" a crowd—over one hundred guests were present—and such a nice bountiful supper: pies, cakes, baked beans, and coffee. And how they did eat! Never got the long tables cleared away before twelve, and they began refreshing the inner man by dark. Some of the boys had to have a second supper. The gifts were numerous and pretty. A number contributed and bought a nice Morris chair. Others bought a smaller but prettier chair and a parlor lamp. The smaller gifts consisted of pieces of china, glassware, towels, print and silverware. A number gave money—in all amounting to about $50. After supper Elder Gordon proceeded to recement the happy pair, using the ring service. Next on the program was the reading by Ralph W. Emerson of the following anniversary poem, written by Myra W. Emerson:

Twenty-five years have passed away
Since we launched our bark on wedlock bay.
The crew was small only Abbie and me
But I did not fear for she said, said she
"Where the breakers are I'll take care of ye."

So I courage took when the waves dashed high
And the heavens frowned for remembered I
Her cheering words, for she could not lie.
But who's to navigate this craft?

"Can you," says she, as she sorter laughed,
"You may captain be and I first mate!"
Since Abbie it—took pity on me?
For she said, "If I don't, said she, there's no other gal would marry me, but I only smiled, tho' it made me mad
As it would smother my consoled lad
Who grieved his hair and his mustache too
Especially when he knows tis true.
But I only said, "when I hitch to you
There are lots of gals as will be some blue."

She said, "how strange," but she sot the day
That set us adrift on wedlock bay.
Some calls this life but a vale of tears,
But I'd like to retrace these twenty-five years.

For tho' our lives have known some pain
And toil and tears, I would like again
To start right back to my wedding day.
For the seas were smooth most of the way,
But we've pitched our tent where the tall trees grew.

Most cleared the land, a hard job, too,
But our home at last is near complete
With graphophone, organ and patterling feet.

That music make on the kitchen floor,
Though some have passed to return no more
But I've said enough, tho' my wife looks proud.

Since I pruned her so to this tony crowd.
She stands out there with hair a curl,
You'd mistake her sure for my eldest girl,
While I tho' my hair is a little gray
Stood the trip quite fair on wedlock bay.

But we're not to thank you, kind friends dear,
For the handsome gifts you've brought us here

The four days of practical agricultural instruction during Farmer's Week which began March 11, and ended March 15, was given by the College of Agriculture as a means of further helping the farmers of this State. Attendance at this course was beyond all expectation; one hundred and sixteen farmers representing thirteen counties registered for this course. The commingling of so many men interested in great many lines of agriculture was bound to bring out an exchange of ideas which would prove of value. It was the unanimous request of those in attendance that a similar course of instruction be given next year. With this view, the meeting adjourned Friday afternoon and the delegates returned to their homes feeling well repaid for the time spent in the four days course of agricultural instruction at the University of Maine.

And your kindness long will remembered be
While our craft floats on over wedlock sea.
Mrs. Gordon followed with appropriate lines. Mr. Penney cordially thanked the kind friends for their very acceptable gifts, after which candy and popped corn were passed round. From some upper region sounded the rat, tap, flat of the light "fantastic toe" in tune to the melodious strains of the old violin. Below swelled the soft tones of the fine organ, as there were good organists present as well as singers, which sort o' rested the over-taxed old graphophone. It was nearly 3 o'clock when most reluctantly the well-entertained, chattering guests turned homeward. Had a good time? You bet! Dear me, wonder how long we've got to wait for "tother," not long we hope.

The Department of Animal Industry has received the gift of a complete set of the "Herd Register" from The American Guernsey Cattle Club.

P. F. Skofield, a student in the class of 1908 in the College of Agriculture, spoke before the Bangor Grange, March 12th, on the subject of "Stable Sanitation."

On March 7, Professor Hurd attended the meeting of the Agricultural interests of New England in Boston which had for its purpose the holding of a conference on New England Rural Progress. Professor Hurd presented a paper on "The Leading Educational Questions in Extension Teaching."

Beginning on Tuesday, April 2, 1907, a two weeks course in Practical Poultry Work and Horticulture will be given under the guidance of the College of Agriculture. This course is to aid those persons who wish practical knowledge along these lines and who cannot afford the time necessary in a longer course. Practical poultry work includes the handling of incubators, brooders, and care and feeding of young chicks, and the management of laying birds will be supplemented each day by lectures and discussions on poultry subjects. The equipment of this department consists of 3,000 laying and breeding birds, 40 incubators, 120 brooders, and the buildings in which they are kept. Along the line of Horticulture there will be a study of orcharding, plant diseases, and improvement of the home grounds.

THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE

Medical Science Returns to the Ancient Scriptural Truth.

NEW BLOOD MEANS NEW LIFE

At the Season of the Year the Blood Needs Revitalizing to put Vigor into the Muscles, Strengthen the Nerves, Tone up the Stomach and Clear the Brain.

Time-honored customs of the past have shown that the blood is the life. In the spring-time the blood is renewed, and the body is made strong. In the summer the blood is purified, and the body is made healthy. In the autumn the blood is strengthened, and the body is made vigorous. In the winter the blood is renewed, and the body is made strong.

The blood is the life. It is the blood that gives us strength and energy. It is the blood that keeps us healthy and happy. It is the blood that makes us able to do our work and enjoy our lives. It is the blood that makes us able to stand up to the trials and tribulations of life.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Lizzie Conner was born in the town of Palmyra, Me., May 8, 1827, and died in Skowhegan, March 15, 1907. Between these two dates a long life of nearly eighty useful years was lived. Mrs. Conner was the daughter of Thomas and Betsey L. Lancy of Palmyra. She was educated in the schools of her native town, where much of her early life was spent in teaching. In her youth she experienced religion and joined the Christian church and throughout her life was a faithful and efficient member. She lived single until May 6, 1867, and upon that date was united in marriage with John B. Conner of Troy, where she lived until a few months before her decease. Mrs. Conner was well endowed by nature, was genial, social and of an attractive personality. She had no children of her own but to seven step-children she gave the love of a mother and to them her noble life and tender ministrations will ever be a precious memory. As the years advanced the heart of this mother, with that of her faithful husband, was deeply pained by the death of their youngest daughter, Mrs. Abbie Kackhoff, who with her family were living with her parents in the old home. This was indeed a great sorrow, but these aged parents found much comfort in giving to their motherless grandchildren true parental love and care. In the old home grandparents and grandchildren, rich in each other's love, strove nobly on for each other's good; but soon the dark shadows began to gather again about this home and upon the second day of August, 1906, the aged husband and parent was removed by death. After the death of her husband Mrs. Conner, feeling that her strength was failing and her work done, went to live in the home of her nephew, Mr. A. H. Lang of Skowhegan. In this pleasant home she received all the comforts that loving hearts and willing hands could give. Two children survive her: Byron of Wisconsin and E. R. Conner of Belfast. It has been the privilege of the last named son to do much for the comfort and happiness of his parents in their declining years, and which was highly appreciated by them. The funeral service was held from her old home in Troy, Tuesday, March 19, 1907, at 10 o'clock a. m., conducted by the writer. The floral offerings were beautiful. The interment was in Fairview cemetery.—J. C. L.

Thomas Wynan Vose, for eight years judge of the Bangor municipal court, one of the most distinguished attorneys of the Penobscot bar and long prominent in the public life of Bangor, died at his home in that city March 23d. He was born in Portland July 3, 1830, but when a boy his parents moved to Orrington. He was educated in the academies of Hampden, East Corinth and West Randolph, Vt., and in 1858 graduated from the Chandler Scientific School in Hanover, N. H. After graduation he read law in the office of Albert L. Kelley of Winterport, and in May, 1860, was admitted to the bar. He practiced in Winterport 12 years, two of which were spent in partnership with Hon. N. H. Hubbard, and in 1872 removed to Bangor, where he soon won a high standing at the bar and entrance in public life. In 1876 he entered into partnership with Hon. Lewis Barker and his son, Lewis A. Barker, the firm being Barker, Vose & Barker. This relationship continued until the death of the junior member in January, 1890, the firm name remaining unchanged until the elder Barker passed away in October of the same year. In 1892 Gov. Furbush appointed Mr. Vose judge of the Bangor municipal court, and he retained the position until 1900—two terms. Judge Vose held many other public offices. He served on the water board of Bangor from 1879 to 1901, was city solicitor for nine years and was a member of the school board for several years. In politics he was always a Republican, and before going to Bangor had represented the class towns of Frankfort and Winterport in the Maine House in 1870, and the county of Waldo in the Senate in 1871. The Bangor News says of the deceased: "The death of Judge Vose will be sincerely regretted, for his quiet courtesy and generous disposition won for him a wide circle of friends. His knowledge of the law was profound, and his knowledge of human nature was shown in the manner in which he concluded the affairs of the municipal court—in the ease with which he could distinguish the genuine tales of misfortune told by the unfortunate before him from the habitual 'hard luck stories' of the old offenders." He is survived by his wife, a son, E. C. Vose of Concord, N. H., a daughter, Mrs. Emma F. Lewis, and a sister, Mrs. Joshua Kent of Bangor. Funeral services were held at the late residence in Bangor and the interment was in Winterport, where the bells were tolled and other marks of respect shown to the departed.

Francis Wright died recently at the Hahnemann Hospital in Philadelphia from injuries received by falling from a doorstep at a house where he was visiting. He was 69 years old and was born in Winterport. He had formerly been in business in Philadelphia as a dealer in horses, but since July, 1902, had resided at the Odd Fellows' Home in that city. He was a member of Hancock Lodge, No. 43, and of National Palestine Encampment, No. 51, I. O. F.

Linnie W., wife of Roscoe E. Littlefield of Winterport, died March 20th after long illness of suffering with consumption, aged 26 years. Everything that loving hands could do to restore her to health was done, but without avail. Mrs. Littlefield was the youngest daughter of C. F. Robinson. She was one of Winterport's school teachers before her marriage and was beloved by both old and young. She leaves beside her husband, a mother, Mrs. Juliette Tenney, and a sister, Mrs. L. J. Tenney.

In her youth she experienced religion and joined the Christian church and throughout her life was a faithful and efficient member. She lived single until May 6, 1867, and upon that date was united in marriage with John B. Conner of Troy, where she lived until a few months before her decease. Mrs. Conner was well endowed by nature, was genial, social and of an attractive personality. She had no children of her own but to seven step-children she gave the love of a mother and to them her noble life and tender ministrations will ever be a precious memory. As the years advanced the heart of this mother, with that of her faithful husband, was deeply pained by the death of their youngest daughter, Mrs. Abbie Kackhoff, who with her family were living with her parents in the old home. This was indeed a great sorrow, but these aged parents found much comfort in giving to their motherless grandchildren true parental love and care. In the old home grandparents and grandchildren, rich in each other's love, strove nobly on for each other's good; but soon the dark shadows began to gather again about this home and upon the second day of August, 1906, the aged husband and parent was removed by death. After the death of her husband Mrs. Conner, feeling that her strength was failing and her work done, went to live in the home of her nephew, Mr. A. H. Lang of Skowhegan. In this pleasant home she received all the comforts that loving hearts and willing hands could give. Two children survive her: Byron of Wisconsin and E. R. Conner of Belfast. It has been the privilege of the last named son to do much for the comfort and happiness of his parents in their declining years, and which was highly appreciated by them. The funeral service was held from her old home in Troy, Tuesday, March 19, 1907, at 10 o'clock a. m., conducted by the writer. The floral offerings were beautiful. The interment was in Fairview cemetery.—J. C. L.

Thomas Wynan Vose, for eight years judge of the Bangor municipal court, one of the most distinguished attorneys of the Penobscot bar and long prominent in the public life of Bangor, died at his home in that city March 23d. He was born in Portland July 3, 1830, but when a boy his parents moved to Orrington. He was educated in the academies of Hampden, East Corinth and West Randolph, Vt., and in 1858 graduated from the Chandler Scientific School in Hanover, N. H. After graduation he read law in the office of Albert L. Kelley of Winterport, and in May, 1860, was admitted to the bar. He practiced in Winterport 12 years, two of which were spent in partnership with Hon. N. H. Hubbard, and in 1872 removed to Bangor, where he soon won a high standing at the bar and entrance in public life. In 1876 he entered into partnership with Hon. Lewis Barker and his son, Lewis A. Barker, the firm being Barker, Vose & Barker. This relationship continued until the death of the junior member in January, 1890, the firm name remaining unchanged until the elder Barker passed away in October of the same year. In 1892 Gov. Furbush appointed Mr. Vose judge of the Bangor municipal court, and he retained the position until 1900—two terms. Judge Vose held many other public offices. He served on the water board of Bangor from 1879 to 1901, was city solicitor for nine years and was a member of the school board for several years. In politics he was always a Republican, and before going to Bangor had represented the class towns of Frankfort and Winterport in the Maine House in 1870, and the county of Waldo in the Senate in 1871. The Bangor News says of the deceased: "The death of Judge Vose will be sincerely regretted, for his quiet courtesy and generous disposition won for him a wide circle of friends. His knowledge of the law was profound, and his knowledge of human nature was shown in the manner in which he concluded the affairs of the municipal court—in the ease with which he could distinguish the genuine tales of misfortune told by the unfortunate before him from the habitual 'hard luck stories' of the old offenders." He is survived by his wife, a son, E. C. Vose of Concord, N. H., a daughter, Mrs. Emma F. Lewis, and a sister, Mrs. Joshua Kent of Bangor. Funeral services were held at the late residence in Bangor and the interment was in Winterport, where the bells were tolled and other marks of respect shown to the departed.

Francis Wright died recently at the Hahnemann Hospital in Philadelphia from injuries received by falling from a doorstep at a house where he was visiting. He was 69 years old and was born in Winterport. He had formerly been in business in Philadelphia as a dealer in horses, but since July, 1902, had resided at the Odd Fellows' Home in that city. He was a member of Hancock Lodge, No. 43, and of National Palestine Encampment, No. 51, I. O. F.

three sisters, Mrs. Edith Grant of Winterport, Mrs. Angie Packard of Hampden and Mrs. Alta Carleton of Belfast. The funeral services were held at the home of her mother at Ellsworth, Me., March 23d. Rev. H. D. French of Hampden spoke words of comfort to the large concourse of friends present. The floral offerings were beautiful. Among them was a wreath from the Y. P. C. E. of Hampden, of which she was a member, and several floral pieces of pinks, roses and ferns were presented by relatives of both families. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones in their affliction.

The death of Mrs. Laura Hayford, widow of Hon. William B. Hayford, occurred Friday, March 23d, at her home on Cedar street, Bangor, at the age of 72 years. Mrs. Hayford is survived by a daughter, Mrs. M. C. Peirce. Mrs. Hayford was one of the best known women in the city, known for many acts of charity and highly respected by all who knew her. Her husband was mayor of Bangor in 1876 and one of the most prominent citizens of the city for many years.—Bangor Commercial.

Clarence P. Jordan died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Walter Robbins, in Bangor, March 27th, after a brief illness of pneumonia, aged 26 years. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Jordan and besides his parents and this sister he leaves a sister, Mrs. John Crosby of Stockton Springs, and a brother, Luther Jordan of Bangor. Mr. Jordan was in the employ of the R. B. Dunning Co. of Bangor, and had a large number of friends who will regret to learn of his death.

News has been received of the death March 25th in Joplin, Mo., of Mrs. Stella E. Gerry of Bangor, who was spending the winter there with her daughter, Mrs. Nicholas Lewsen, formerly of Bangor. Mrs. Gerry was the widow of Capt. James Gerry of Bucksport, a well-known steam yacht captain. Two daughters live in Bangor.

Mrs. Annie C. Lawrence, widow of Walter Lawrence and except for a few months past a life-long resident of Bucksport, died in Brewer March 26th, aged 70 years, 2 months and 16 days. The funeral services were held in Bucksport, March 28th. The bearers were John Kennedy, Charles Davis, Isaac Richardson and Stephen Crosby. The interment was in Silver Lake cemetery.

Lizzie, wife of Elbridge Nickerson of Winterport, died March 27th, after a long illness, the result of a paralytic shock. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Mrs. Howard Kingsbury and Mrs. Mary Hamilton; three sons, George Nelson, Edward Nelson and Henry Nelson.

Mr. S. L. Bowen, of Wayne, W. Va., writes: "I was a sufferer from kidney disease, so that at times I could not get out of bed, and when I did I could not stand straight. I took Foley's Kidney Cure. One dollar bottle and part of the second cured me entirely. Foley's Kidney Cure works wonders where other are total failures."

Calais went Republican at the election last Monday.

If a man steals a horse worth fifty dollars, he is sent to the penitentiary. Yet a man is free to advertise worthless stock in oil and mining companies, and rob the people of large sums, and nothing is done about it. — Atchison Globe.

Something ought to be done.

The Portland Evening Express cannot see how Republicans elected upon the State platform of their party can justify voting for re-submission or the repeal of the Sturgis law. Nor do we see how a man taking part in a caucus can turn his back upon the candidates he has helped to nominate, and whom he is pledged by his action to support, and vote for the candidates of the opposing party. That would at one time have been considered very dishonorable. Perhaps it is today. We hope so, as otherwise it must be admitted that there has been a lowering of the standard of honor.

All honest and fair-minded people will hold Governor Cobb in higher regard because of the enemies he has made. His course from the first has been as true as the needle to the pole. Before his first nomination he stated his position on the most vital issue before the people, clearly and unreservedly, and said that he would not ask the votes of those who did not agree with him. He has kept the faith and has been consistent throughout his official career. Had he proved recreant to his pledges and given the lie to his professions he would have escaped the criticisms of the advocates of nullification and lawlessness, but he would have forfeited the respect of the God-fearing, law-abiding people of Maine.

THE CHURCHES.

The Seaside Spiritualist church will hold services at Seaside Grange hall, Field street, every Sunday at 2 p. m., weather permitting.

Rev. Mr. MacQuarrie of Newton Centre Theological School will occupy the Baptist pulpit next Sunday. Other services will be as usual.

Christian Science services are held at J. F. Fernald's, No. 57 Cedar street, every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and Wednesday evening at 7.30, to which all are cordially welcome.

There will be services in the chapel at East Northport Sunday, April 7th, at 10.30 a. m., with a sermon by the pastor, Rev. G. Winslow. Services in the Woods school-house at 2 p. m.

The regular services will be held at the Universalist church next Sunday. The subject of the morning sermon will be "A Trinity of Words and Deeds"; Sunday school at 12 m.

Sunday morning service at the First Parish church, Unitarian, at 10.45, with sermon by the pastor from the text "Thou hast made me glad in thy work," Psalms; Sunday school at 12 m.; subject of study from the life of Jacob.

The services for the week at the North Congregational church will be as follows: Junior C. E. meeting Thursday p. m., at 3.30; prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7.30; topic, Workers together with God, 2 Cor. 6: 1-13; morning worship Sunday at 10.45 a. m.; Sunday school at noon; C. E. meeting Sunday at 6.30 p. m.; topic, The consecration of one day in seven der. 17: 19-27; (consecration meeting); Evening worship at 7.30 p. m.

Some four hundred persons listened to the lecture and readings in Seaside Grange hall last Sunday afternoon by Miss Helen M. Putney of Lowell, Mass., under the auspices of the Seaside Spiritualist church. In the evening an even larger number was present. A picnic supper was served and the seating capacity of the hall was all taken. Miss Mabel Webster sang several solos and special music was rendered by the choir. The service was very pleasing and Miss Putney made a great many friends among her audience. This, Thursday, evening she will give an evening of readings or tests in Seaside Grange hall, to which an admission fee of 15 cents will be charged. These readings will be given in the ballroom style. Next Sunday afternoon and evening she will give another lecture and follow with readings as on last Sunday. There will be special music and Mrs. Webster will sing a solo at each service. Refreshments will be served in the ballroom during the intermission between the services.

The Congregational Sunday school gave an excellent Easter concert at 4.30 p. m. last Sunday with the following program: Professional, Junior classes. The Easter story. Luke 24: 1-6. The Primary department. Luke 24: 1-6. Miss Dunton's class. Mark 16: 1-8 and John 20: 11-18. Miss Pilsbury's class. Song, Glad Easter, Chorus. Prayer, Rev. D. L. Wilson. Christening. Mrs. Clarence E. Song, Milton Stephenson, Harold Jones, Harry Godfrey, Harry Bowker, Dana Southworth. Recitation, Easter Voices. Doris Roberts and Margaret Craig. Song, The Light of the World. Recitation, Easter Lilies. Doris Jipson. Recitation, Why the Lilies are Fair. Miss Pilsbury's class. Song, The Awakening. Junior and Primary departments. Hymn, Address to the children, Rev. D. L. Wilson. Hymn, Congregation.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

Timothy Chase lodge of Masons will hold its next regular meeting this, Thursday, evening. There will be work in the Entered Apprentice degree.

The 30th Triennial Conclave and encampment of the Knights Templar will occur at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 7-14, 1907, where elaborate preparations are being made for their entertainment.

Sunday, April 28, has been designated as anniversary Sunday by the grand master of the grand lodge, I. O. O. F. The idea is for all lodges to attend services at some church where a sermon appropriate to the occasion will be given.

The secretary of Timothy Chase Lodge, F. & A. M., has received from the secretary of El Paso Lodge of Colorado Springs, Colo., official notice of a visit from Brother Oscar W. Pitcher of Timothy Chase Lodge, accompanied by fraternal greetings.

Silver Cross lodge, Knights of Pythias, will go to Brooks by special train Tuesday evening, April 9th, where the degree team will confer degrees for the Golden Crown lodge of Brooks. It is expected that a large number will make the trip.

Arno W. King of Ellsworth, grand generalissimo of the Grand Commandery of Maine, made an official visitation to Palestine Commandery, No. 14, K. T., Wednesday evening, March 27. The Order of the Temple was worked on one candidate, after which a banquet was served.

Grand Master Morrill of the grand lodge, I. O. O. F., and Willis A. Bailey, grand patriarch of the grand encampment have issued their annual proclamations for the observance of the anniversary of the order on the 26th of April. All subordinate lodges, Rebekahs and encampments are called upon to celebrate the day.

Grand Master Morrill of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows has appointed Past Grand Master Fennel Robinson of Camden, chairman of the committee on appeals in place of Past Grand Master Henry P. Cox of Portland, deceased. Past Grand Master George W. Goss of Lewiston has been appointed to the vacancy on the committee.

The Rockland Courier-Gazette says that there is a strong likelihood that the annual field day of the Maine Department, Patriarchs Militant, will be held in that city next June. When Department Commander Poor was in Rockland a few days ago he dropped a casual remark to the effect that the Patriarchs had never forgotten the other field day which was held in Rockland, and said that many had expressed a desire to come here again.

At a stated meeting of Island Lodge, No. 88, F. & A. M., held in Islesboro March 28th, 1907, the following resolution was adopted: Whereas, Great God has seen fit to take from us brother Adolphe Coombs, who was born in 1835 and taken away February 8, 1907. In his younger days a zealous and devoted mason—I being one of the many on whom he conferred the Master Mason's Daughters degree. He was raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason in Island Lodge, Feb. 1, 1866. Therefore, be it Resolved, That his faith in a risen Christ be an encouragement to us and that a page of our records be devoted to his memory. Geo. A. Warren, Joseph A. Sprague, John P. Bragg, Committee.

Golden Cross Temple, Rathbone Sisters, held a very pleasant meeting Friday evening, March 22nd, when they entertained about 60 visitors, among them the G. C., Mrs. Hall; G. S., Mrs. Hutchinson and G. G., Mrs. Killman with about 20 members from Victory Temple of Burnham, 20 from Silver Crown of Brooks, 10 from Knox of Camden and 3 from Ivanhoe of Rockland. The visitors were received in the reception room, where they were served with delicious fruit punch and various kinds of wafers, and were then escorted upstairs to the lodge room. The work was exemplified on one candidate, and was followed by entertaining speeches from the visiting sisters and brothers and members of the home Temple and which were received with hearty applause. Then all repaired to the dining hall where a bountiful banquet was served. The affair was greatly enjoyed and all pronounced it one of the most pleasant of the season.

The Tribal convention of Red Men to be held in this city tomorrow, Friday, evening will be one of the largest gatherings of Red Men ever held here. Plans have been made for a very pleasant session, which will open at 7.30 p. m. in Pythian Hall, where over a hundred delegates are expected to gather. Following will come the conferring of the Adoption and Warriors degrees by Soudadabcock Tribe of Hampden and then supper will be served in Memorial hall, which has been engaged for the occasion. After supper the members will again meet in the Pythian Hall to witness the conferring of a degree which is given for sport, followed by a smoke talk, which will be one of the prettiest of features in which the visitors will be made doubly welcome. The steamer Silver Star from Islesboro with Ounegan Tribe of Islesboro, the Golden Rod with Pentagoet Tribe of Castine, and the Rockland with Abenakis Tribe of Bangor, Pemadique Tribe of Bucksport and Soudadabcock Tribe of Hampden, will arrive Sunday after 6 p. m.

The grand hall by Canton Pallas, P. M., I. O. O. F., came off last Tuesday evening in the Belfast Opera House according to program. The visitors were met on arrival of the evening train by Canton Pallas and the Belfast Band and escorted to Odd Fellows' hall. After a concert by the band Canton Halifax of Waterville gave an exhibition drill whose excellence called forth hearty applause. Dancing followed. The attendance was large, both of dancers and spectators, and it was a most enjoyable affair from start to finish. Canton Pallas entertained the visitors at their rooms after the ball and refreshments were served. Brigadier General Levi M. Poor of Augusta, Department Commander, was present, with Lieut. Col. C. M. Stewart of Bangor, Chief of Staff, Major Henry Bickie of Bath, Asst. Commissary General, Major A. M. Drummond of Augusta, Asst. Quartermaster General, Major C. Walter Poor of Augusta, Asst. Adjutant General, Capt. Orrin J. Dickey of Belfast, Aid-de-Camp. Others present from out-of-town were Lieut. Col. W. W. Berry of Waterville and Major Frank Knowlton of Fairfield, of the Second Regiment, Col. J. L. Merrick of Waterville, in command of Canton Halifax drill squad, Henry T. Chamberlain of Waterville, Captain of Canton Halifax; and last, but not least, fourteen ladies from Waterville.

THE NEWS OF BELFAST.

Unclaimed letters remaining in the Belfast post office for the week ending March 30th: Mrs. Elsie A. Hall, Irvin P. Harris, Chas. W. Rutter, Cashier.

The class parts for the graduation exercises of the class of 1907, B. H. S., have been decided upon and are as follows: valedictory, Miss Louise Heal; salutatory, Miss Olive Wadlin of Northport; history, William Vaughan; prophecy, Misses Gladys Richards and Marion Hazeltine; poem, Miss Emerald Bradman; oration, Clyde Shute; presentation of gifts, Chester Frost and Linwood Thompson; essay on class flower, Miss Alberta Farnham; essay, Miss Gladys Pitcher. The valedictory and salutatory are awarded for the pupil's rank and the other parts are elective.

Frank A. Greer, Esq., had to use a ladder last week to reach his law office over the Woodcock store on Main street. There was a stairway between that building and the Dinsmore store, and the roof over it gave way with the weight of snow on it and crashed down, carrying the stairway with it and reducing stairway and roof to kindling wood. Judge Greer had left his office a short time before. The crane hung on his office door had no relation to this catastrophe, it is said, but was hung there by two of his Democratic brothers and is supposed to have a political significance.

Wednesday evening, March 27th, Orrin J. Dickey spoke before the Young Men's Association of Belfast, on "Southern Pictures" and last evening a very interesting talk on "Bird Life" was given by Rev. Ashley A. Smith of the First Universalist church. The Association is steadily growing and some thirty were added to the membership in the past two weeks. Thanks are due J. L. Sleeper & Co. for picture frames to W. L. Hall for photo of the High school basketball team, and to John S. Fernald and others for magazines. An "open evening" will be given soon, to which the residents of the city will be invited that they may see the workings of the Association.

The Parlor Musical Society will hold its next meeting in Odd Fellows' Hall, Wednesday evening, April 10th. A Schubert-Schumann program will be given, Miss Amy E. Stoddard, chairman. The members are requested to invite their friends and every-body interested will be welcomed. The program will begin at 8 o'clock and will be as follows:

PART I.
Schubert, a paper by Miss Mabel Mathews. Schubert.
Serenade. Mr. John Parker.
Piano solo, Du bist Die Ruh—Schubert-Liszt.
Solo, Who is Sylvia? Miss Amy Stoddard.
Piano duet. Miss Marian Wells. Schubert.
Misses Mary Faunce and Helen Danton. Solo, The Miller and the Brook. Mrs. E. P. Frost.
Solo, Der Wanderer. Mrs. C. W. Wescott.

PART II.
A Schumann program will be given by Mrs. C. H. White of Waterville.

THE CITYPOINT SOCIAL. The usual large company attended the Citypoint social last Friday evening and enjoyed the occasion in the usual happy manner. The supper was excellent, abundant, and attractively served. The stage decorations were pretty and appropriate, and the following Easter program was given:

Chorus, Hymn America.
Walter Hatch, Willis Hatch, Mammie Hurd, Mrs. Furush, Bert Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. White.
Tableau, Decorating for Easter, Maud Creasey, Alice Bailey, Francis Davis, Sidney Knowlton.
Piano Solo, Miss Gladys Pitcher.
Recitation, Misses Alois Applin.
Tableau, The Lone Fisherman, Roscoe Rolerson.
Recitation, Miss Laura Holmes.
Solo, "The Banquet at Mistry Hall," Bert Davis.
Sketch, Awakening of Brinn, Roscoe Rolerson.
Reading, Ernest Currier.
Solo, "The Monk," E. S. Pitcher.
Address, Rev. J. W. Vaughan.
Moving Tableau, Crowning of Easter, Julia Vaughan, Ruby Creasey, Emma Carter, Marion Bailey, Marjorie Bailey, Ernest Currier, Percy Peavey.
The Rev. J. W. Vaughan kindly took charge of the program and gave a short and entertaining address. One of the most pleasing features of the evening was the singing by E. S. Pitcher and Bert Davis, who responded to enthusiastic encores. The following beautiful poem was composed and read by Gardner Lane.

EASTER.
Tomorrow, when the duties stern of life
Have swallowed us again within their strife,
And when the call to work that must be done,
Through all our nerves and sinews seems to run;
When as we struggle on, our faltering tread
Seems but to lead to rougher roads ahead,
Then shall the thought of lessons taught
Open new vistas to our failing sight.
Teach us the lessons old, decay life brings;
That worms are butterflies without their wings.
The tomb that once upon an Easter day
Gave back to life that which to man was clay.
Is shown each Easter when a smiling spring
From out a winter's death new life doth bring;
As, rising from the tomb of mother earth,
All nature wakens as at a second birth.
The snow that drips from off the southern eaves,
The crocus with its first unfolding leaves,
The willows opening buds beside the stream,
The morning bird song and the twilight gleam,
Seem whispering of life and summer days,
And paths of beauty wound through happier ways;
All nature now is calling to the ear
Rise up, have hope, for Easter time is here.

AN OPPOSITE PARTY. One of the cleverest and most thoroughly enjoyed parties of the season was given last Monday evening by Mrs. Clarence E. Read to the K. E.'s. The invitations gave warning that it was to be an "opposite party," and the guests assisted in carrying out the idea by their costumes, which were, to say the least, a trifle different from their ordinary attire. There was "Parson" and "Jim" and "Bill" and "Jack" and others of the opposite sex, and other fetching rigs which created no end of laughter. The invitation to adjourn to the dining-room was accepted with an alacrity inspired by curiosity and some misgivings. The skeptical had fortified themselves before leaving home, while others had trusted to the benevolence of the hostess, and, as it proved, their faith was not misplaced. The dining-room was artistically decorated with the club initials, and with autumn leaves as a symbol of spring (?) and the daintily set table was a pretty sight, with its center piece—a pond banked with green, and occupied by a colony of ducks. At each place, beside the napkin with its autumn leaf decoration, was a flower, good to eat as well as to look upon, and a scarlet leaf, on which the guests names were written backward. On the reverse side the menu was found printed as follows:

Hot Chocolate
Fool's Pudding
Baked Potatoes
Boiled Eggs
Nuts and Apples
Cream Sauce
Sandwiches

Then the fun began, and the warty watched their hostess with the closest attention. Beyond the discovery that "Things are not what they seem" nothing peculiar was discovered and a delicious supper was thoroughly enjoyed. Hot chocolate turned out to be bouillon; fool's pudding was an enormous dish of escalloped clams; nuts and apples were combined in a salad; the baked potato skins contained creamed chicken; the egg shells held lemon jelly and whipped cream, sandwiches were layer cake, and the bouillon was hot chocolate. After due justice had been done to all the good things the company adjourned to participate in all kinds of games in which charades had, as usual, a prominent part. "Bill" was inclined to be a trifle aggressive and to disturb the peace, but the other "foilers" held their own, and despite several jealous quarrels, there were no serious casualties. The fun went merrily on until breaking-up time came and congratulations were bestowed upon the hostess and her assistant for one of the most original parties ever gotten up.

GOOD WORK

Done Daily in Belfast. Many Citizens Tell of It.

Nearly every reader has heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. Their good work in Belfast still continues, and our citizens are constantly adding endorsement by public testimony. No better proof of merit can be had than the experience of friends and neighbors. Read this case:

Mrs. B. E. Allen of 83 Congress street, Belfast, Maine, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are a remedy in which I have every confidence. I have used them at various times during the last six or seven years and from the benefit derived I can give them the heartiest recommendation. I really think they are without an equal for curing backache and other kidney pains and weaknesses. I have often recommended them to my friends who were afflicted with kidney complaint, and I advise every kidney sufferer to use Doan's Kidney Pills."

The Panic's Lessons

THE most severe financial panic for many years has just been experienced, and apparently out of a clear sky, nor are its ill effects all felt yet. More or less business recession is sure to follow. Credits at home and abroad have been expanded beyond actual basis conditions; conservative, semi-conservative and worthless securities have been marketed; innumerable business undertakings, legitimate and otherwise, have been begun and the country flooded with securities promising large return.

It is a time to stop, take soundings, and ascertain whether we are heading for shoals or sailing the course which leads safely to port.

"IN PEACE PREPARE FOR WAR," is nowhere more applicable than in banking and finance. THE WISDOM OF THE MANAGEMENT OF THIS BANK IN STRICTLY ADHERING TO THIS POLICY, IS NOW MORE THAN EVER APPARENT.

In the past, instead of striving for large interest return, we have sought safety of principal first in all transactions, the safety which stands the test of financial panics. Neither have we been satisfied with buying the best securities to be obtained, but have applied the major proportions of our earnings to the reduction of cost values.

During the past two years $11,634.36 have been charged off for this purpose; hence, our position is today an exceedingly strong one, and our Savings Department offers an exceptionally safe place for the deposit of the savings of the wage earners and farmers.

We issue special books in this Department and add the interest twice yearly at 3 1/2 % per annum.

This is a fair and just proportionate return to the depositor, the character of our investments and the protection afforded considered. You can get your money at any moment, panic or no panic. ABSOLUTE SAFETY IS WORTH THE PRICE IT BRINGS.

With us, besides the strong policy of our management, depositors are further protected by the special safeguards of the national banking laws. At all times we publish a full list of our securities owned, and prices at which carried on our books. Deposits by mail receive immediate attention. One dollar opens an account.

SPRING SHOWING OF THE NEW
SINCERITY STYLES

YOU can't always tell what you are getting when you buy clothes. You must always take into consideration the possibilities of getting clothes that are "doctored" by the hot flat-iron. Perhaps you have had experience with clothes that lose their character on the first damp day you wear them; then you will find the little flaws that have occurred in the making, and the defects covered by stretching or shrinking, as the case may happen to be, to gloss over the imperfections of tailoring. You know, the tricky flat-iron is the "cure-all" of the clothing business, and it behooves every buyer to safeguard his own interest by choosing clothes that have been sincerely tailored, and honestly made with honest materials.

We want you to know SINCERITY CLOTHES. When you have become acquainted with them, there will be no other just as good; no other that any merchant can substitute for them. It is a line which we can freely and conscientiously guarantee, for it stands on its merits; clothes that will win your lasting confidence.

In our Spring showing we have all the correct styles that stand approved by Fashion. What you can afford to spend for your new Spring Suit, Top Coat or Cravenette, will buy the right garment here. $10.00 or $25.00—the best at every price, and the same fair treatment to buyers of the cheapest as to purchasers of the best in the house.

Be on Your Guard against "fake" discount sales, or reductions at this time of the year. Materials are all higher than they have been for many years. Wool, Cotton, Leather and everything else used in the making of wearables is high. Goods become more valuable as the season advances—even as they lay on the shelves. Bona-fide sales will be scarce indeed. This statement, however, should not frighten anybody into thinking that retail prices have advanced materially, for it affects a single suit very little. It is the quality that counts, and it is quality you will find to your satisfaction in the Spring styles of SINCERITY CLOTHES. We invite your inspection.

THE NEWS OF BELFAST

A discharge from bankruptcy was granted last week to Henry H. Larrabee of Winthrop.

The Waquoit, South Shore, Northport, is undergoing thorough repairs and renovation and will be open to the public in about two weeks.

The Waldo County Hospital has received a check for $25 from Geo. P. Field Esq. of Boston as an Easter offering—a graceful and timely gift.

The newly elected night policemen, Arthur J. Beach and George L. Ryan, went on duty Monday, relieving George W. Frisbee and James A. Nickerson.

Among the nominations by the Governor last week were the following: Notary public, Frank R. Wiggin, Belfast; Justices of the peace, H. C. Buzzell, Searsport; Eben F. Greenfield, Belfast.

Miss Helen Doak entertained a number of friends at an enjoyable bridge party last Sunday evening. Miss Elizabeth A. Doak won the first prize, while the booby was carried off by Miss Alice P. Poor.

The city schools began the spring term Monday with no changes in the corps of teachers except in the High school, where Miss Florence E. Dunton is an assistant in place of Miss Annie L. Barr, resigned.

The largest "April fool" of the season was the storm which began some time Monday and continued all day Monday. The snow fell, and walks had to be made. It is to be hoped for the last time this season.

There will be a benefit social and supper at the hall next Tuesday evening. The hall will be served and contributions of food are requested. After supper a musical program will be enjoyed. Admission 10 cents, supper 15 cents.

Mr. S. Vickery has bought the Henry C. S. house on Primrose Hill Church street and has permanently located here. He is a graduate from Colburn Classical school and of Syracuse University in medicine and surgery and also of the University of the State of New York.

The piles of snow which might have caused damage if carried away by a wind, have melted as if by magic under the rays of the sun, and now mid-winter has passed and the time for dust is not far off. As the snow came early there is no ice in the ground and an "early spring" is confidently looked for.

Planning to build a fire of gasoline and a serious blaze in Madison last Saturday night. The plate glass window of the O. H. D. building was broken by explosion and several clocks thrown overboard but most of the damage to the building was by water. He was insured. The buildings damaged were owned by F. Kent and were insured. The loss was about $5,000.

The people of East Northport were greatly pleased last week at receiving a fine gift for their chapel, a gift from Geo. J. Hartman, Esq. of New York City. It is placed in its tower last Saturday by the hands and Sunday morning rang the bell for an Easter service to the delight of all who heard it. The kindly gift is most highly appreciated and the donors will be gratefully remembered.

The young men of the Belfast High school have organized a baseball team, with Principal Walter S. Adams as manager and Basil Richards assistant manager. Henry Richardson has been elected as captain, and the outlook is very promising, while a number of games have already been scheduled. Friday evening, April 26th, a dance will be given in the Odd Fellows hall, with music by Keyes orchestra, for the benefit of the team. Refreshments will be served to the affair deserves the patronage of those who desire to see a good team placed on the field.

The Belfast band will hold their annual concert and ball in the Opera House, Belfast, April 19th. The concert will be as pleasing as the band has been practicing diligently during the winter. To make this the best they have ever given. Besides various selections by the band, there will be five or six instrumental solos which are sure to be pleasing. The nature of the concert will be a bass solo by J. Maurice Wade, who through the efforts of the band members has been invited to play here. The concert will be given by a grand band, with music by Keyes orchestra. The band members are that the public will give them the liberal patronage they have received in past years.

The local sale under the auspices of the Improvement Society, announced last week, will be held tomorrow, Friday, at 3 p. m. in a general hall. Friends are requested to send all articles of food to the hall by 2 o'clock. A generous response is solicited, and for work on the park must be had. The society is making arrangements for setting out trees and shrubs after May 1st, if the condition of the ground will permit, and all persons intending to plant trees personally should consult Dr. A. D. Stoddard of the park commission as soon as possible. Mr. J. F. Wilson of the park commission advises us that the frost out of the ground and suggests that the setting out of the trees should be begun as soon as possible.

A SUCCESSFUL SEWING SCHOOL. The sewing school, conducted in the winter months by the Non-Partisan W. C. T. U. Association, closed last Saturday afternoon after an unusually successful season. Mrs. Freeman H. Cook, the teacher, has done wonders for the little ones, in whom she has taken a personal interest. The attendance has averaged 24, and 66 garments have been completed. This is a large number when it is considered that many of the children are "patch work pupils" and garment making is beyond them. 177 yards of material were used, and the long-sleeved and fancy aprons, night dresses and undergarments of all kinds which were made became the property of their makers. Mrs. Cook reports that the children were unusually faithful and interested and had done remarkably good work. The pupils enjoyed a "treat" last Saturday before they were dismissed for the season.

BRAND UPON THE WATERS. The Ansted & Burk Co., merchant millers of Springfield, Ohio, contributed flour to the Hospital Fair through the Whitten Bros. of this city, and the following letter, which explains it, shows that they are cheerful givers:

Whitten Bros., Belfast, Me.
Dear Sirs:—We thank you for the copy of The Republican Journal with an account of the hospital fair. It is nice to be able to help such a worthy cause and we are glad to know that such a humane institution is getting the support of your people. It shows that you are a good community and good citizens. Whenever we can help you in anything of this kind, we will be glad to do so as we think this is good, practical religion.

Yours very truly,
The Ansted & Burk Co.
J. W. Bunk, president.

Several obituaries received too late for this issue will be published next week.

The "May breakfast" of last year proved so successful that the Ladies' Circle of the North church will repeat the experiment this year, and will again serve a breakfast in the church vestries on May Day morning.

The S. G. and T. B. whist club met with Miss Gladys Carter last Saturday evening. A very pleasant evening was spent, during which delightful refreshments were served. The first prizes were won by Miss Maude Holmes and Fred Tibbets, and the boobies by Miss Florence Kimball and Miss Gladys Carter. The next meeting will be with Miss Maude and Fair Holmes at Citypoint.

STEAMER NOTES. The boats of the Vinalhaven & Rockland Steamboat Co. entered on their spring arrangement April 1st. Steamer Governor Bodwell leaves Vinalhaven at 7 a. m. and 2 p. m. for Hurricane and Rockland, and leaves Rockland for Hurricane and Vinalhaven at 9:30 a. m. and 4 p. m. The Vinalhaven leaves Swan's Island at 5:45 a. m. for Stonington, North Haven, and Rockland, and leaves Rockland for the return trip at 1:30 p. m. She will make landings at Isle au Haut every two Tuesdays and Fridays. Other than this, the trips are daily, except Sundays. The crew at the Bath Iron Works have begun bending the beams for the new Eastern Steamship Company's turbine City of Belfast. The keel is laid and a lot of the material for the craft has arrived. The Winter Harbor Transportation Co. has secured Connors Bros.' steamer Mascot for two months to go on the route between Bar Harbor and South Gouldsboro, formerly covered by the steamer Marjorie, which was condemned by steam-boat inspectors a short time ago on account of trouble with her boiler. The Mascot has been chartered for two months, and will run on the route until the Schoodie, the new steamer building at Portland, is in readiness for use.

IT WAS A SUCCESS. The annual Universalist Easter sale, supper and entertainment, came off in Memorial Hall Wednesday, March 27th, and was, as usual, an unqualified success. The candy, fancy, apron and "grab" tables were well patronized, the supper tables were filled, and all the seats in the hall were occupied during the novel entertainment which followed the supper. Twenty people were dressed to represent popular books, the titles of which were given on neat little catalogues distributed among the audience. The books represented were as follows:

Running Water.....Mason
The Stoddard Lectures.....Stoddard
The First Violin.....Fothergill
Dear Daughter Dorothy.....Plympton
The Pit.....Norris
Ye Lyttle Salem Maid.....Mackie
The Man on the Box.....McGrath
The Story of Liberty.....Coffin
Ivanhoe.....Scott
The Masquerader.....Thurston
Poem.....Burns
Little Mitchell.....Alcott
An Old Fashioned Girl.....Morley
Poem.....Longfellow
The Crisis.....Churchill
Melody.....Richards
Little Women.....Alcott
Uncle Tom's Cabin.....Stowe
Cook Book.....Lincoln
Looking Backward.....Bellamy

Mr. C. S. Bickford was the librarian and introduced each book in a happy manner, and the appropriate music, tableaux or recitations were all excellent. The first "book" was a piano solo; the Stoddard lectures were represented by some fine stereopticon views; "The First Violin" was presented by Miss Hazel Doak, who gave a delightful solo; the fourth book was a recitation by little Dorothy Smith and so on through the list, each book being represented in a different way till the last book, which sent the audience home laughing.

SHIPPING ITEMS. Among the Ellsworth sea captains who left last week to join their vessels, which have been hauled up at the wharves for the winter, were Capt. Wellington C. Bellamy, of the Myronus, Capt. A. W. Hutchings, of the Melissa Trask, Capt. J. W. Jordan, of the Wesley Abbott, and Capt. Edward Dodge, who for many years has sailed the schooner Nellie Grant but this season will take command of the Julia Francis, all going to New York; Capt. W. P. Woodward of the Henrietta A. Whitney, who went to Newport, and Capt. Cliff Fullerton of the Luduska to Boston. Several of the Ellsworth vessels are chartered to bring cement to Ellsworth for the dam. Capt. Fred L. Dow and Capt. Allen McIsaac of T. M. Nicholson's fleet left Bucksport last week to join their vessels. The barge Edith which loaded potatoes the past week at Cape Jellison pier took on about 15,000 sacks which was the largest cargo yet shipped from the Cape. The steamer Mohawk sailed March 27th for New York with 7200 sacks of potatoes from Carter & Corey. H. G. Calderwood of North Haven, owner of the sch. Collins Howes, Jr., which sank several months ago outside Rockland breakwater while being towed into port, believes that he can raise the schooner and is making preparations for the attempt. Sch. Mollie Rhodes is chartered to load stone at Green Island for New York at $1.30. Last Thursday the steamer W. G. Butman towed into Rockland the bow of the schooner Helen B. Crosby, which has been lying near the breakwater since it was rescued by Capt. Gilbert. Sch. Good Intent, formerly owned at this port and now hauling from Rockland, arrived here last week to load kiln wood for her home port. She was built at Braintree, Mass., in 1813 and is the third oldest schooner afloat. The well known schooner Polly, formerly owned here, was launched at Amesbury, Mass., in 1805, and next to her in age is the pinky Mary of 8 tons, built at Portsmouth, N. H., in 1811 and now owned in Damariscotta. Sch. C. Taylor, Capt. Wainville Chapman, has loaded brick at Orland for Rockland. The Northport schooners William H. Jewell, Capt. Jesse Drinkwater, and the L. Snow, Capt. Frank Herriek, have gone into commission and are carrying kilnwood to Rockland. It is rumored that Boston capitalists are about to contract for five large steel gasoline schooners for the West India and coastwise trade. The motors to be placed in these vessels will give them a speed of nine knots an hour independent of their sail power. Sch. Charlie & Willie, Capt. Bathholder, has chartered to load stone at Toothaker's Cove for New York at $1.50 per ton. Charles E. Bicknell of Rockland has bought from the Gilbert Transportation Co., the spars, hull and rigging of the Helen B. Crosby. The hull has been towed to Bicknell's wharf, Rockland, and portions of it are being incorporated into the scow which Mr. Bicknell is building there. Mr. Bicknell has also bought the wreckage of the old "laker" Jessie L. Boyce, which was wrecked on Goose Rock near North Haven, Jan. 10th. Sch. Chase will be sent to the scene of the wreck to strip the craft. The revenue cutter Woodbury arrived at Rockland last Friday and reported all the landings in Eggemoggin Reach clear of ice. Sch. Lizzie D. Small, recently launched from Gilchrist's marine railway, will load lumber at Cape Jellison for New York.

The members of Seaside Chautauque Circle will meet with Mrs. C. A. Hubbard Monday afternoon, April 8th. The lesson will be from Literary Leaders, chapter nineteen, and from the C. L. S. C. book "Rational Living," chapter six to page 78. Magazine topic, Oxford, England, from page 39 to 66. Roll-call, quotations from John Ruskin's writings.

W. C. T. U. ANNIVERSARY. The Belfast Woman's Christian Temperance Union observed its thirty-third anniversary by appropriate services, in connection with the annual meeting, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. White, No. 4 Bay View street, Friday, March 29th. The afternoon meeting was opened with devotional services, hymns, Scripture reading and a prayer by Mrs. Eliza Beckett Finnewell, now in her 93d year, and a member of the union since its organization. An anniversary poem was read by the president, Mrs. Lucy A. Deorow. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: president, Mrs. William B. Deorow; vice president at large, Mrs. Levi F. Howard; secretary, Mrs. Leroy Coombs; assistant secretary, Mrs. Annie Davis; treasurer, Miss Ellen P. Frothingham; vice presidents, Methodist church, Mrs. J. W. Hatch; Baptist, Mrs. George E. White; Congregational, Mrs. R. S. Smart; Universalist, Mrs. S. B. Fletcher; Unitarian, Mrs. E. P. Alexander; press reporter, Mrs. Albert M. Parsons; superintendent of flower mission, Mrs. George E. White; scientific temperance instruction, Mrs. Mary Whitmore; soldiers and sailors, Mrs. Carrie F. Black. Letters were read from Mrs. Francis Jones, Albion, Me., and Mrs. Ada Brier, Brooklyn, N. Y. New members were received into the union. A picnic supper was partaken of by 55 members and guests. The following program was given in the evening:

Photograph selections, Levi F. Howard.
Piano solo, Miss Frances Macomber, aged 6.
Recitation, "The Children's Hour," Miss Marion Parsons, aged 6.
Vocal solos, Miss Florence White.
Reading by request, Mrs. E. P. Alexander.
Closing song, "God be With You." All.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. Fred A. Johnson, Masonic Temple, makes another departure in inaugurating Saturday evening shopping. Beginning this week he will have an "After Supper Sale" every Saturday from 7 p. m. until closing time. See the bargains that will be offered. Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Chase of A. D. The Fashion announces an opening of spring and summer millinery for Saturday, April 6th, when there will be a beautiful array of trimmed hats for ladies and children. Pianos, cash or instalments; music Saturday 15 cents per copy. William A. Clark, Clark's Corner, calls attention to his spring showing of the new Sincerity styles and invites inspection as to quality and price. You will find the Gold Bond $2 hats at Clark's. Dwight P. Palmer, Masonic Temple has the spring styles, 1907, of the Lamson & Hubbard hats. Everything in the furnishing goods line. Two good horses for sale at the Windsor Stable by W. G. Preston. Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Hills and family publish a card of thanks. See report of Searsport National Bank. Thoroughbred Scotch Collie lost, by L. P. Armstrong, Belfast. Miss Louise H. Ferguson, Miss Lula Hineckley, milliner, will have her opening of spring and summer millinery Saturday, April 13th. The City National Bank of Belfast presents strong reasons why it should have the confidence and patronage of the public. Wanted, from May 1st, 6 or 7 desirable rooms with stable. Also 5 or 6 rooms for small family to arrive from Chicago about May 1st. E. F. HANSON.

We Trust Doctors

If you are suffering from impure blood, thin blood, debility, nervousness, exhaustion, you should begin at once with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the Sarsaparilla you have known all your life. Your doctor knows it, too. Ask him about it.

Unless there is daily action of the bowels, poisonous products are absorbed, causing heart-ache, biliousness, nausea, dyspepsia, and thus preventing the Sarsaparilla from doing its best work. Ayer's Pills are liver pills. Act gently, all vegetable.

Made by J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of HAIR VIGOR, ACNE CURE, CHERRY PECTORAL.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

NEWS OF THE GRANGES.

At the last meeting of Morning Light Grange, Monroe, the third and fourth degrees were conferred on candidates and other business transacted. Several brown-tail moth nests and a large number of the egg-clusters of the tent-caterpillar were brought in and destroyed; and parts of the lately enacted law regarding injurious insects were read by the secretary. The brown-tail moth has appeared in widely separated parts of the town and all should be on the lookout for it, that the nests may be destroyed before the appearance of the foliage.

Family Reminiscences.

BY L. P. ROBERTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE JOURNAL: The sketches of the lives of prominent men in the towns of Jackson and Brooks, by Capt. C. O. Roberts, were very good. I am the writer and suggested that there were others nearby, who might be "written up." We note a few names in the town of Brooks as follows: Esquire Davis and family, from which came one of the learned Judges of the State; Esquire Thordike, with his sturdy sons and capable daughters; "Neighbor Hane" sending out from his home nine school teachers; "Neighbor Bean," just on the hill, with his numerous sons and daughters, among whom was Andrew D., Captain in the army, and shrewd politician. I might also mention the Nesmiths, blacksmiths for many years in the village; Esquire Hester, merchant, with his several sons, among them "Capt. Jim," merchant and keeper of the post office for many years, straight as an arrow, with a military turn, a man never to be forgotten; Alfred Roberts, a man of stalwart frame, lumberman and wood turner, employing many hands; Esquire Chase for many years hotel keeper, who turned out the contents of his bar and for many years kept a temperance hotel, his one son, "Mike," becoming a prominent merchant in the town, where his son now carries on a large business in general merchandise. Esquire Chase was for years a deacon of the Congregationalist church. There were several daughters in the family, some of whom became teachers in the district schools. Three of the daughters are still living. We may also mention Deacon Page, for long time a prominent citizen of the town. Among these people, and standing well to the front, may be mentioned the name of Isaac Roberts, and only less noted in his day and generation than the doctor, who for years was one of the most prominent and popular men in that section of the State of Maine and stood at the head of his profession, having a very large practice in all parts of Waldo county and going to see his patients on horseback, for which he had to keep a relay of horses.

Isaac Roberts, a son of the Revolutionary soldier, Joseph Roberts, worked on his father's farm until he reached majority, but having secured what was termed a good education he developed into a school teacher of the first class and taught school for a number of years. He bought a small farm near the village of Brooks and taught winters and worked on his farm in the summer time. He taught the village school, which was one of the best and yet one of the most difficult to manage in all that section. Some of his older sons attended this school as his pupils. He was appointed, or elected, the superintendent of the school committee and served as such for a term of years and upon him devolved the duty of examining many school teachers and those applying for certificates. He held the position of agent for a land syndicate known as the "Proprietors of the Waldo County Land Company," having holdings in several towns in the county. In looking after these lands he almost invariably went on foot, as they were mostly timber lands. The office and headquarters of the syndicate, at that time, was in the village of Brooks, where he was called in the village of Brooks, as he was familiarly called, was a Whig in the earlier days, but became a radical abolitionist and was among the first to vote the abolition ticket, voting for the first Abolition candidate for president, James G. Birney; afterwards becoming a Free-soiler, which party merged into the Republican party and placed in the Presidential chair Abraham Lincoln, orator, statesman, and author of that remarkable proclamation that gave liberty to three millions of the colored race, slaves in our Southern States; and a martyr for the cause of freedom. In religion Isaac was first a Free-will Baptist and active in that society, so much so that his friends broke for him a call to the ministry in that denomination, but he finally joined that more silent sect the Friends, more generally known as the "Quakers," in which society he remained until his death, which occurred in 1862 at the home of his son, Warren N. Roberts, then living in Brooks a little west of the village. He died very suddenly of a stroke of paralysis, at the advanced age of 75 years.

In a book entitled "Roberts Family," prepared by Mrs. Amorena Grant, daughter of Jacob Wellington Roberts, is found this bit of history: "Isaac, born May 10, 1784; married, first, Abigail (Married second, Sarah Cook, 1838; died 1862; had nine children. Really eight; six boys, and two girls, the daughters dying in infancy. Justin Roberts, when he came to manhood, chose the occupation of chairmaker and painter and followed this occupation for several years in the town of Brooks, where he died in 1840. Milton, second son of Isaac and Abigail, the youngest flower of the family, attended the village school and the Hebron Academy. Fitting himself for a teacher, he became one of the best in his profession. Among others he taught the village school, three of his brothers attending as pupils. In the 'Roberts family' history, it reads: 'He became a most successful teacher in Brooks, Me., and other towns, and in New York. At one time he had twenty-seven Roberts descendants among his pupils. He was a wood turner by trade, and invented an improved turning lathe, a steam plow, and several useful improvements in machinery, the turning lathe was automatic and worked the work of three men by hand work. Milton set up his machines in Minneapolis, Minn., where he operated them for a few years. Becoming blind, he had to give up all work, and died in Minneapolis at an advanced age. Clarkson Roberts, the third son, was the farmer boy who became a blacksmith, and his father's farm, and for others until his father had reached his majority. He enjoyed the advantages of the village school, and such other facilities for securing an education that he became well qualified as a teacher and taught winters for many years. Late in his teens he was converted to the Christian faith, and when at the family worship, he had had convictions that he must preach the Gospel, and fitting himself as best he could he joined the Methodist annual conference and devoted himself to the work of the ministry in eastern Maine for a number of years; but health failing him he went to Minnesota, and then to California, where he again entered the active work of the ministry, and for eight years did the best and most successful work of his whole ministry.

Addison, an invalid from his childhood, bright in intellect, keen of wit, with an education suitable for teaching school, was denied that privilege for years by family inability. He lived with his parents and was clerk of the town of Brooks, where he died at the age of about 45 years. Isaac P. Roberts, the youngest of Isaac's first wife's children, was born in 1826. He lived at home and worked on his father's farm, and attended the village school, until he was 14 years of age, and not long after he went away to the west to learn the trade of the shoemaker until he should be twenty-one. After serving four years he bought his time of his employer, and worked at his trade a few years in Maine and then went to Lynn, Mass., then the largest shoe manufacturing town in New England. In 1852 he was converted and joined what is now the first Methodist Episcopal church in the city of Lynn, and became very active in that communion. Soon he began to harbor the conviction that he was called of God to preach His Gospel and began the work of preparation for that work. He attended the Conference Seminary for that purpose, and was intending to further pursue his studies, but having an earnest call in eastern Maine for labor in the Lord's vineyard he gave heed to that call and joined the East Maine Annual Conference in 1855. He gave 14 years to the itinerant pastorate when a depletion of health led him in 1869 to leave the State for the west. Stopping in Wisconsin in 1871 he joined the Wisconsin Conference, where he gave about thirteen years to the active work of the ministry, and then, in consequence of impaired health, was led to take the relation to his Conference of superannuate, which relation he now holds. Having spent four winters in Florida with his wife, Harriet S. Roberts, they have for three years been living in the city of Boston, Mass., with present address at 109 Charles street.

Warren Newton Roberts, son of Sarah Roberts, nee Cobb, the second wife of Isaac, was a sturdy young man. He worked on his father's farm and attended the village school until he was of age; and having secured sufficient education to qualify him for school teaching followed that profession for several years and worked on his farm a little west of Brooks village. After a time, removing to Lowell, Mass., he secured a position as janitor of the public schools, which occupation he followed for 17 years, when failing health obliged him to give up the position. He died in 1902, aged 65 years, in the city of Lowell, where he was an active member of the Free Will Baptist church, respected, and loved by all.

So ends the history of this somewhat prominent family. Of the six sons three were school teachers and two entered the ministry, the only Gospel ministers of the name, so far as is known, in the whole Roberts connection. These all, except the writer "died in the faith, and were gathered to their fathers."

AN INSIDIOUS DANGER

One of the worst features of kidney trouble is that it is insidious, and before the victim realizes his danger he may have a fatal malady. Take Foley's Kidney Cure at the first sign of trouble as it corrects irregularities and prevents Bright's disease and diabetes.—R. H. Moody.

ONE DOLLAR A WEEK.

Wage Earners and Salaried Men Can Provide for Old Age.

To all the men who work for wages or on salaries their only hope for a peaceful old age and for a life free from racking money cares is to provide beforehand for the future. They should take no risk. When they speculate they stake their family's future and their own peace of mind against a few dollars. Even were the chances equal—and in the case of a small man the odds are always against him—the risk which he takes is vastly disproportionate to any possible gain.

Many men ever heard of progressive compound interest and still fewer know what it does. One dollar deposited in a savings bank which pays 4 percent will amount to $2.19 in 20 years. This is simple compound interest. But how many men know that if they deposit $1 every year, the value in 20 years will not be $2.19 but $30.97?

Any man or woman who is earning wages at all can save $1 a week. That money deposited in a savings bank for 20 years will amount to $1612. A deposit of $5 a week will amount to over $8,000. The annual interest on this at 4 percent would be $320.

Thus the man who deposits $5 a week in a savings bank can, after 20 years, draw out $8 a week and still leave to his wife and children at his death all the money that he deposited and more than half as much more. There is no paradox or catch in this. It is a plain, simple mathematical statement of what every savings bank will do.

Every wife should read these figures and go over them for herself. They are accurate. The only necessity is to make the deposits regularly. If, instead of discontinuing the weekly deposits at 20 years, they are continued for 10 years more, every dollar a week will have become over $3,000. For every dollar which had been deposited $2 a week can be drawn out.

It takes time to make money this way, but the result is certain. There is no secret about it, no mystery, no allurements, no dazzling speculation. All that it requires is industry, and a little self-denial every week. It pays better than any gold or copper mine, than any pool room or bucket shop, New York World.

CENTER MONTVILLE.

Miss Neva Poland is at home from Waterville for a two week's vacation.

Benjamin P. W. Jaquith began work in Volney Thompson's carriage shop last week.

There was a very high wind March 20th that made strong buildings sway and creak. Last fall the writer left a very "thickset" iron bar stuck up in a plowed field where the northwest wind has a chance to strike vigorously. A man who crossed the field Friday reported that the bar and dirt had blown against that bar until it was no larger than a lead pencil.

Bert Gay has been engaged to marry the Grange hall. Gay brothers are intending to make quite a quantity of maple syrup this year if the run is good.

THE STURGIS LAW.

Representative Dow Speaks Against Repeal.

The House March 26th voted 78 to 50 to repeal the Sturgis law, Representative Colcord and Dow voting in the negative. In the debate Mr. Dow of Brooks spoke as follows:

Mr. Speaker, I feel that some explanation of the action of the committee might be appropriate. You gentlemen have considered the so-called Eaton bill and that bill puts into the hands of the Governor the power to remove sheriffs who neglect to do their duty, with the proviso that a sheriff appointed in place of the one removed shall be of the same political party as the one removed; and your committee thought favorably of that bill. But that is a constitutional matter and will not go into effect for two years. In the meantime I believe the people of the State at large demand that some just means of enforcement should be in the hands of the State officials. Your committee were heartily in favor of the Health bill. It is concise and systematic. But if we are to adopt the Eaton bill two years from now we thought we ought not to do away with this bill which is under discussion; we thought we had better allow the Sturgis matter for two years to remain where it is.

We say there should be some means of dealing with officials who deliberately nullify the law, and we say that this Sturgis law, while it is not all that we might wish, while we realize that to a certain extent it is unpopular in some portions of the State, we believe that under the present conditions we as temperance people of the State of Maine should stand by that with the understanding that it is only a temporary measure; it is only to tide over the time until we can have a more potent law and one which is better adapted to meet the needs of the people. For these reasons we favor the Sturgis law. By a fair majority you opposed resubmission of the prohibitory amendment. I submit that it is unjust to the Governor that he shall not have power to enforce the law which he is required to enforce and is unjust to every principle of civic righteousness and good government; and I ask that the majority report be sustained.

Warren Newton Roberts, son of Sarah Roberts, nee Cobb, the second wife of Isaac, was a sturdy young man. He worked on his father's farm and attended the village school until he was of age; and having secured sufficient education to qualify him for school teaching followed that profession for several years and worked on his farm a little west of Brooks village. After a time, removing to Lowell, Mass., he secured a position as janitor of the public schools, which occupation he followed for 17 years, when failing health obliged him to give up the position. He died in 1902, aged 65 years, in the city of Lowell, where he was an active member of the Free Will Baptist church, respected, and loved by all.

So ends the history of this somewhat prominent family. Of the six sons three were school teachers and two entered the ministry, the only Gospel ministers of the name, so far as is known, in the whole Roberts connection. These all, except the writer "died in the faith, and were gathered to their fathers."

Lewis Asplund, night operator of the Central Telephone Exchange here, has been transferred to the Belfast office and George M. Colson has been appointed to succeed Mr. Asplund here.

The masquerade ball in Union Hall Monday evening under the auspices of Anchor Lodge of the Order of Eastern Stars was attended by a large and appreciative audience. Larsen's orchestra of Bangor furnished the music.

The contract for building the wharf at Mack's Point for the American Agricultural and Chemical company has been awarded to James R. Spellman of Bangor and will begin as soon as the snow is gone from the shore front.

Joseph B. Harthorn, master ship builder who died in Bangor Saturday, built many vessels for the Penobscot and Bangor yards in Bangor and Brewer. Among them the schooner Orliman, bark Delphine, ships Premier 1st, Bosphorus and Golden Rocket.

OBITUARY. Mrs. Harriet S. Patterson died at the residence of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lizzie Allen, March 27th after an illness of three weeks. She was born in Belfast Jan. 1, 1826, the daughter of John and Sabrina (Bashford) Allen. She was married Andrew Allen of Ellsworth, a merchant tailor who died many years ago leaving two sons, Capt. Fred N. Allen, who died on board the bark Dublin in San Francisco Feb. 13, 1882, and Capt. Andrew L. Allen, who died in Brunswick, Ga. Apr. 26, 1893. Her second marriage was with Capt. Richard E. Patterson, who died Jan. 9, 1893. The funeral services were held Friday and conducted by Rev. Harry Hill of the M. E. church. She leaves one grandson, Andrew L. Allen of New York.

Easter was appropriately observed at the M. E. church, Sunday morning and evening. There was special Easter music by the choir and an impressive sermon from Matt. 28:6 by the pastor. A specially pleasing feature of the service was the singing of hymns sung by the boys and girls. The church was beautifully decorated with Easter lilies, potted plants and cut flowers. In the evening the Easter service, "The Resurrection Story," was given by the Sunday school and listened to by a large and appreciative audience. The pieces were well rendered, the "Legend of the Cross" being especially beautiful and impressive. The "Easter Torches." The we tots, too, with their little verses, are deserving of mention, and all was pronounced a success.

ALLEN-ROSS. The home of Capt. and Mrs. Andrew McGilvray Ross was the scene of an extremely pretty wedding, Thursday evening, March 28th, when their daughter Henrietta was united in marriage to Mr. Andrew Woodard Allen. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. G. Harbutt. The best man was Dr. Irving Pendleton of Lewiston. The bride was escorted by her father and attended by her sister, Miss Martha Ross. The bride's toilette of lustrous white satin profusely trimmed with point lace was completed by a long tulle veil fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms and a bouquet of brides roses was carried. The ribbon bearers were the four sisters, the Misses Blanche, Rebecca, Emily and Lucy Ross. Each room and the spacious hallway were decorated with garlands of white ribbons and smilax. A buffet breakfast was served to the many guests who enjoyed the hospitality of Capt. and Mrs. Ross. The bride's presents, which have been shown her friends, are numerous and valuable. Mr. and Mrs. Allen left mid showers of confetti and good wishes for their home in Orange, N. J.

STOCKTON SPRINGS.

Mr. F. W. Collins is again in town, after an absence of several weeks.

Irving Sawyer returned from Gardiner last week and is again at Cape Jellison.

Mrs. Darius Berry arrived from Rockland Friday night, accompanied by her son Andrew.

The Young Ladies' Guild will hold its regular meeting this week with Mrs. Edgar Colcord.

The Ladies' Aid Society will be entertained this Thursday, afternoon by Mrs. Elmer Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Marston returned Saturday from a visit of several weeks in Boston and vicinity.

Charles Calkin returned Monday evening by train from Gorham, where he spent Sunday with his family.

Mrs. Horace Staples, who has been ill for two weeks, has sufficiently recovered so that she attended church Sunday.

Rev. W. G. Mann is spending the week with his family in Westbrook. He expects to return Saturday unless detained at home.

The Current Events Club will meet April 10th with Mrs. Ralph Morse. It will be a current events day with some humorous selections.

Miss Grace Harriman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Harriman, was united in marriage to Mr. George Daly, March 28th, in Seaside.

Mrs. J. A. Peirce went out Sunday a short distance for the first time in seven months. She is still far from strong, but gaining constantly.

Edgar Ellis of Cape Jellison is at this writing, Monday, very ill of transverse pneumonia—pneumonia resulting from an injury to her lung, from outside pressure.

Mr. and Mrs. George Manter left March 27th for their home in Sidney. They were the guests of their nephew, Mr. Albion Goodhue and wife, during their stay in town.

Mr. Frank Treat arrived March 27th from Dorchester, Mass., for a week's visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Treat. He is still engaged in the jewelry business.

Mrs. Herbert L. Mixer and daughter, Miss Clara, arrived from Bucksport Wednesday of last week and were the guests of Mrs. M. S. sister, Mrs. Maria Blanchard, until Monday.

Mr. Charles Grant moved his family last week to the north part of the town. He has been buying the new lotment of the Ellis house on Church street for the past two years.

Dr. Curtis of Seaside was in town last week in consultation with Dr. G. A. Stevens, on the case of Mrs. F. W. Crawford. In addition to a severe case of grip she has a chronic throat trouble.

Friends of Mr. John H. Wardwell are glad to see him in his place of business again after his most trying experience with that arch enemy, the grip. He shows what a struggle he had with the foe.

Capt. Charles P. Staples and wife left for their home in New York Monday, after a week's visit with Mrs. E. S. Grant of New Haven, Conn., and the two will then go to Newburyport, Mass., to spend a few days with their brother, William G. Staples, after which Mrs. Staples will accompany her sister to New Haven for a short time.

Mr. F. W. Crawford, station agent at Cape Jellison, is greatly improved and was able to attend to business for some days last week. Monday he left for Milo Junction, where he will be located for the future. Mrs. Crawford, his wife, is still quite ill, but able to sit up a few moments at a time and gaining slowly. He will join her husband in Milo as soon as able and until that time he will come down on the night and return on the morning train.

The arrivals at the Cape Jellison dock last week were schooner Grace Davis, to load lumber; barge Edith, in tow from Boston, to take 10,000 bushels of potatoes for New York, the largest cargo ever shipped from this port. The following schooners sailed last week: Pendleton Satisfaction, with 5,000 bushels of potatoes, for Cuba; Henrietta, with lumber for New York; Minnie Hanson, with lumber for New York; Marion Draper, with lumber for New York, and the steamer Mohawk, carrying 7,000 sacks potatoes for New York.

An accident at Cape Jellison last week came near proving fatal. The little six year old daughter of Capt. John Small, who with her mother has been spending the winter with her father on board the vessel, the Hired D. B. Biers, which was left in the basin, fell from the deck of the schooner. Capt. Small was on shore at the time and Mrs. Small was talking with a caller, a cousin of his, when a youth of sixteen, when hearing a splash they hurried to the water to find the child had fallen into the water to find the child had fallen into the water to find the child had fallen into the water. The young fellow, throwing off his coat, sprang into the water, and although not an expert swimmer seized the sinking child and supported her until help came in a boat, her father arriving at this time. The boy was nearly exhausted himself when drawn from the cold water, and the child, George A. Small, had to be rolled over a barrel to revive her. It was a long time before respiration was established, notwithstanding the great exertions of her parents. Mr. Robertson is a native of Baldwinville, Mass., and was here on a visit to his aunt, Mrs. Ella A. Small of Sandypoint.

A Congregational church was organized in Hinchin Hall, March 26th, composed of members from Stockton village and Cape Jellison. Some twenty-four had signed the petition for the church. Rev. W. H. Mann was called to the office of pastor. The council called to assist in the organization consisted of Rev. T. P. Williams, pastor of the two churches in Seaside, Rev. W. H. Mann, pastor of the church in Sandypoint and Rev. Chas. Harbutt, secretary of the Congregational Missionary Society of Maine. Rev. Robert Harbutt, a former Congregational pastor in Seaside and Rev. W. H. Collier from the Hammond street society of Bangor, were also present to assist in the ceremonies. Rev. Charles Harbutt was elected moderator and Rev. W. H. Mann was elected for the council. Rev. W. H. Mann was delegated to administer baptism to those desiring to form the new church, after which the society was declared duly organized by the presiding officer, Rev. Chas. Harbutt. Rev. I. H. Derriek welcomed the new church to the fellowship of the Congregational denomination of Maine. Rev. W. G. Mann is sent by the Congregational Missionary Society to act as pastor for their newly established church.

Easter Sunday was observed at the Universalist church with appropriate services. Following was the order of exercises:

Organ Voluntary. Mrs. P. D. Lancaster.

Processional March and Chorus. "A Wake Glad Soul." Universalist Church Choir. Holden

Doxology. Lord's Prayer. Responsive Reading. Anthem. "Now is Christ Risen." Church Choir.

Scripture Reading. Prayer. Response, "Holy Father." Church Choir.

Hymn. Offertory. Sermon, Text: "If a man die shall he live again?" H. E. M. Houlford, Pastor.

Hymn. Benediction. Postlude. Mrs. P. D. Lancaster.

Baking Powder Absolutely Pure

Royal Baking Powder is free from alum and phosphatic acids

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The church was very tastefully decorated by the ladies of the society, the altar being draped in white and banked with potted plants and flowers. Along both sides of the pulpit arms were rows of handsome foliage plants, the whole presenting a very attractive appearance. The sermon was very convincing and must have been helpful and reassuring to those who have any doubts regarding a future life.
